Coimisiún na Scrúduithe Stáit
State Examinations Commission

Leaving Certificate
Sample Examination Paper

Politics and Society

Ordinary Level

2½ hours duration

400 marks

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Examination Number</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Centre Stamp
Instructions

There are three sections in this examination paper.

Section A  Short Answer Questions  100 marks
Section B  Data-Based Questions  150 marks
Section C  Discursive Essays  150 marks

Answer All Sections.

Write your answers in the spaces provided in this booklet. You may lose marks if you do not do so. You are not required to use all of the space provided.

Additional pages are provided if needed. Label any extra work clearly with the question number and part.

You may only use blue or black pen when writing your answers. Do not use pencil.
Section A
Short Answer Questions

Answer any fifteen questions.

ANSWER IN THE SPACES PROVIDED

Question 1

Answer fifteen of the following items, (a), (b), (c) ...

(a) Name four groups involved in decision-making processes in schools.

1 ____________________________  2 ____________________________

3 ____________________________  4 ____________________________

(b) Which of the following United Nations (UN) human rights agreements is legally binding?
(Tick one only).

- The Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR)
- The UN Convention on the Rights of the Child (UNCRC)
- The UN Declaration on the Right to Development

(c) Name one advantage and one disadvantage of proportional representation as an electoral system.

Advantage: _________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

Disadvantage: _______________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

(d) Give two reasons why freedom of the press is important in a democratic society.

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________
(e) Explain what is meant by ‘ethically traded goods.’

___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________

(f) The image shows activists engaging in a public protest as part of a Trócaire campaign for climate justice. Give one advantage and one disadvantage of public protest as a means of action.

https://www.trocaire.org/getinvolved/climate-justice/climate-campaigning

Advantage: __________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
Disadvantage: _______________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________

(g) Which of the following terms means ‘a right which can never be taken away?’ (Tick one only).

- Universal right ☐
- Indivisible right ☐
- Inalienable right ☐
(h) Explain the meaning of the following terms which relate to human rights.

‘rights holder’ ________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________

‘duty bearer’ ________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________

(i) Examine the table below which gives the number of emigrants leaving Ireland between 2011-2015 by age.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Age Group</th>
<th>2011</th>
<th>2012</th>
<th>2013</th>
<th>2014</th>
<th>2015</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>0 – 14 years</td>
<td>5,300</td>
<td>4,900</td>
<td>6,800</td>
<td>6,000</td>
<td>5,400</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15 – 24 years</td>
<td>34,500</td>
<td>35,800</td>
<td>34,800</td>
<td>33,500</td>
<td>30,400</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>25 – 44 years</td>
<td>31,300</td>
<td>39,500</td>
<td>41,000</td>
<td>37,600</td>
<td>39,700</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>45 – 59 years</td>
<td>4,900</td>
<td>4,400</td>
<td>4,600</td>
<td>2,700</td>
<td>3,600</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>60 years and over</td>
<td>4,700</td>
<td>2,400</td>
<td>1,900</td>
<td>2,200</td>
<td>1,700</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total Persons</td>
<td>80,600</td>
<td>87,100</td>
<td>89,000</td>
<td>81,900</td>
<td>80,900</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

(i) Is the table above an example of qualitative or quantitative research?
___________________________________________________________________________

(ii) Name a government department that would use data such as this.
___________________________________________________________________________

(iii) How would this government department find this type of data useful?
___________________________________________________________________________

(j) Name the Houses of the Oireachtas.
1 _______________________________________________________________________
2 _______________________________________________________________________
(k) This cartoon was published in USA Today, an American newspaper, July 2017, and it comments on American society.

!Cartoon Image

Name two examples where a ‘them and us’ divide exists in Irish society.

1. _________________________________________________________________
2. _________________________________________________________________

(l) Describe two ways that women in less developed countries are contributing to sustainable development.

First way _________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________

Second way _________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________

(m) To which branch of government does the Dáil belong? (Tick one only).

- Executive ☐
- Legislative ☐
- Judicial ☐
(n) Examine the pie charts about greenhouse gas emissions and answer the questions that follow.

Greenhouse Gas Emissions in 1990 and 2015 by Sector

Source: http://www.epa.ie/pubs/reports/air/airemissions/ghgemissions/GHG%201990-2015%20April%202017.pdf

(i) What were the top three sources of greenhouse gas emissions in 1990?

First source

Second source

Third source

(ii) Describe two steps that the government can take or is taking to reduce the level of greenhouse gas emissions caused by transport in Ireland.

First step

Second step
(o) Sometimes the rights of the individual have to be set aside to protect the rights of the majority. Describe one example of when this occurs, from your own environment or the wider world.

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

(p) There are three institutions involved in European Union (EU) legislation. The European Commission named in the first box is one of these three.

(i) Name the other two institutions into the correct boxes in the diagram below.

(ii) Give one example of EU legislation which has helped to improve life for Irish citizens.
(q) If a political party proposed that all education from pre-school to third level should be free for all, would this be considered a left or right wing policy? Explain your answer.

___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________

(r) Complete the following sentence.
Parents in Ireland have the right to ‘home school’ their children. This right is protected by B____________________ na hÉireann because in Ireland the family is recognised as
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________.

(s) What is the purpose of the Equal Status Acts in Ireland?
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________

(t) Social media is an important part of people’s lives. It can be used for many reasons: keeping in touch, finding out what’s going on, sharing information or even starting a campaign. Name and describe one example of how social media has been used to bring about political or social change?
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
Document A

The Direct Provision system is when the State provides accommodation in a hostel type centre, essential services, medical care and three meals a day to asylum seekers while their applications for asylum status are being processed. It is not unusual in these centres for children to be living in one room with their parents and where facilities such as bathrooms are shared. Asylum seekers do not have the right to work and receive a very small weekly allowance.

A series of consultations with young people living in Direct Provision was carried out by the Department of Children and Youth Affairs (DCYA) and the Department of Justice and Equality. The report of the views of the young people was compiled by researchers from University College Cork.

The researchers consulted 47 teenagers aged from 13 to 18 years of age from 11 different accommodation centres. They held mixed methodology workshops using sticky notes and placemats where the young people could write and draw their ideas freely on ideas cards and graffiti walls. They also conducted secret ballots and interviews with these young people to gather their views.

The main dislikes of the teenagers were:

The Jesuit Refugee Service (JRS) works with families living in Direct Provision in locations in Dublin and Limerick. An important part of their work is about defending the rights of these families and supporting and enabling them to express their views and concerns making sure that their stories are heard. As part of this advocacy work, JRS asked some asylum seekers to tell their stories in their own words about what life is like for them in the direct provision system.

The following case study was recorded in 2010 by JRS staff.

Djamila

Djamila is a 16 year old girl from Afghanistan who has been living in Direct Provision for four years. She shares a room with her mother and 19 year old sister.

I want to get a real home. Here you don’t go out of the room all day. You can’t go downstairs. Here there used to be kids in the pool room but kids aren’t supposed to be there, because there’s other people there. There are men there.

Djamila tries to hide from school friends the fact that her family are seeking asylum and spends most of her time outside school with other children from the Centre.

I’m mostly friends with hostel people more than school kids. I don’t like to bring people back here. I don’t tell them [at school] I’m an asylum seeker, I say I’m foreign and that’s all, they can talk whatever they want. If they ask any more I say my father was in the war and now I’m here. They say ‘Oh you’re so lucky... you live in a hotel’ and I say ‘Yeah, it’s great I know.’ They don’t understand.

I have a few friends in school. Every day my friends buy me lunch. They have ten Euros each, without them I’d have nothing.

Djamila looks forward to having her own home and says that arguments regularly break out between people in the Centre.

When we move into our own house you can get food whenever you want. Here you always hear people fighting. Two years ago a woman tried to stab another woman with a bread knife and two weeks ago there was a big fight in the laundry room. One time a woman pushed my mum. I was so angry with her!

Source: http://workingnotes.ie/item/living-in-direct-provision-resident-voices
Question 2 (40 marks)

(a) According to Document A what are the two most commonly mentioned ‘dislikes’ amongst teenagers living in direct provision?

__________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________

(b) According to Document B, what are the main problems that Djamila speaks about?

__________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________

(c) What problems identified by young people in these studies are common to both Document A and Document B? Suggest why similar problems are identified in both documents?

__________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________

(d) Using both documents, summarise what it is like for a teenager to live in direct provision.

__________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________
__________________________________________________________________________
Question 3

(a)  (i) Describe the research methods used to conduct both pieces of research.

Document A: ________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________

Document B: ________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________

(ii) Comment on the reliability of one of these pieces of research.
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________

(b)  (i) Describe two challenges of carrying out research with children and young people (under 18 years).
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________

(ii) Describe one advantage of research that directly communicates the voice of children.
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
Question 3

(80 marks)

(c) Explain how living in direct provision might negatively affect some of the rights of young people as set out in the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child.

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

(d) According to Article 12 of the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child, children have the right to express their views and be heard on matters that affect them. Using an example of where young people are consulted either in your school or in society explain why this right is important.

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________

___________________________________________________________________________
Section C Discursive Essays 150 marks

Answer any three from questions 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9.

ANSWER IN THE SPACES PROVIDED

Question 4 (50 marks)
‘There should be as few rules as possible.’ Discuss whether you agree with this view. Relate your ideas to school life and back up your arguments with reasons and examples.

Your answer might include the following:
- Are rules necessary? Why / Why not?
- Are some rules more important than others?
- Who should be involved in making the rules and why?
- Are rules made which benefit some groups over others?
- How do we make sure that people stick to the rules?

Question 5 (50 marks)
Discuss whether the right to education is enjoyed equally by everyone in Ireland. Provide evidence to support your arguments.

In your answer you may refer to one or more of the following categories:

Gender, family / social status, sexual orientation, religion, disability, race, ethnicity (including membership of the Traveller community).

Question 6 (50 marks)
Women are one of the groups least represented in decision-making processes in Ireland. Even though 35 women (more than ever before) were elected to the Dáil in the 2016 General Election, they only make up 22% of the elected TDs.

Discuss the reason for women’s low participation in political life.

Your answer might include the following:
- What is patriarchy?
- What are the challenges to women’s participation in politics?
- What is the impact of women not being involved in policy-making?
Question 7

In 1986 the United Nations adopted the Declaration on the Right to Development in response to the many challenges affecting our world. Discuss this Declaration on the Right to Development.

Your answer might include the following:
- What is development?
- Is the Right to Development a human right?
- What are some of the key ideas in the articles from the UN Declaration on the Right to Development?
- What are the barriers to the implementation of the Right to Development?

Question 8

What is the link between migration and cultural diversity in Ireland or Europe today?

Your answer should make reference to the challenges and benefits of growing cultural diversity.

Question 9

Discuss the statement: Our personal actions contribute to climate change.

Your answer might include the following:
- Greenhouse effect / global warming
- Activities that contribute to climate change
- Consequences of climate change
- Solutions
- Our responsibilities.
Section C – Answer to Question ___

Optional space to help you prepare your answer.
Optional space to help you prepare your answer.
Answer
Optional additional page.
Indicate clearly the number and part of the question(s) you are answering.
Acknowledgements

Images

Copyright notice

The sample examination paper may contain text or images for which the State Examinations Commission is not the copyright owner. It has been prepared in accordance with Section 53(5) of the Copyright and Related Rights Act, (2000). Any subsequent use for a purpose other than the intended purpose is not authorised. The Commission does not accept liability for any infringement of third-party rights arising from unauthorised distribution or use of this sample examination paper.